The funeral services were largely attended, showing the great respect in which our dear comrade was held in the district and a large crowd packed the Citadel for the memorial service.

Our week-end services were of a soul-stirring character.

EARLSCOURT (TORONTO)

Sunday Meetings Led by Commandant and Mrs. McElhenny—Eight Seekers—Candidate and Wife Say Farewell

Commandant and Mrs. McElhenny conducted special services at Earlscourt on Sunday, October 13th. The Commandant addressed the congregation, the day was one of a soul inspiring character, which, coupled with the aggressive and determined endeavours for the salvation of the unsaved, brought much blessing to those present.

During the afternoon service his topic, "Saved Earthware," bearing some incidents out of his own experiences, moved everyone to a high pitch of enthusiasm and many were led to Praise God in the Salvation Army, and a Savior who saves from the uttermost.

Hall Was Packed

At night the seating accommodation was taxed to its utmost limit, and people were turned away.

Candidate and Mrs. McElhenny, for the Frazer's College, were the guests of the evening. The hall was the scene when the Commandant dedicated them under the Flag. After a heart-moving call from Mrs. McElhenny, and a stirring call to leave all and follow Christ by the command of eight souls knelt at the Mercy Seat.

On Thanksgiving Day, the Life-Saving Guards met together for a Social gathering to say goodbye to Mrs. Keys, who has been Guard Leader at the Corps.

A brief gathering had been served, a further gathering was conducted by Ensign and Mrs. Parsons, when Guard Chaplain Eva Shlubick expressed the regret of the Guards at losing their Leader. Guard Instructor Violet Hickling wished Captain Parsons well in his new service.

This meeting was in charge of Secretary Gordon, who called upon various comrades, representing the many activities of the Corps, to speak.

Excellent Progress

Good progress has been made during the past six months, especially during the signs of excellent progress. Each speaker mentioned his or her desire for a still greater progress during the coming winter months. The band and Singers rendered an excellent musical programme which was enjoyed by the large audience.

The Home League is to be congratulated on the splendid arrangements made to supply the large number who gathered with refreshments.

ST. JOHN ITEMS

Man Captured for God Through Meeting at Salvation on Sunday Interpreting Prayer Requests Regarding the Various City Corps

Envoy Hanson is doing a splendid work for God and the Army in and around St. John. He is a "Special" wherever he goes. Recent Sunday morning he stopped to talk with a young man while on his way to Carlton (St. John 4) Corps, with the result the man decided to go with the Envoy. In that, his first Army meeting, he gave him a hearty welcome and proposed becoming a good Soldier. This Corps is doing splendid under the command of Captain Wheeler.

Adjutant and Mrs. Ursaki (St. John 1) are real Blood and Fire warriors. Under their leadership the Corps' very branch is progressing and gives promise of something better than ever.

On Thanksgiving Sunday, the Adjutant led on all day, assisted by the band and Institutional Officers in the City. In the night service Sister Jean Condy sang one of the new Corps songs. The corps of the new Guards were called into play and the Adjutant gave a very appropriate address. Three men asked an interest in the company of eight souls.

Captain South has come to assist Adjutant Wells at St. John III. Well said "Welcome, Captain." The Major is a true son of the soil, born after his very affliction in the loss of his dear wife. We shall also give him a welcome on his return to our midst. Last Sunday night four souls sought and found salvation.

No. 11 Corps is under the care of Sister Marshall who is holding on until new Officers are appointed. Who these will be we do not know, but we are just waiting to give them a royal welcome.

Envoy Moore and Captain Robinson were at the hall on Sunday night. The Evangelistic Home Officers are a splendid asset to the spiritual work of the Army here in the city, and are ever willing to do all in their power to pull the chains of God in the several Corps. They are looking forward to the special monthly "Holiness" meetings to be conducted by the Colonel.

SUMMERSIDE, P. E. I.

We have received another drum and Bugler Crossman, a returned soldier, beats it. On Sunday, September 21st, Brigadier Moore and Envoy Squarebriggs were with us. A very large congregation held their annual meeting for the winter campaign. The Band and the Colonel outlined the programme for the winter campaign. The Band, under Bandmaster Granger, rendered great assistance. The Soldiers are looking forward to the special monthly "Holiness" meetings to be conducted by the Colonel.

CALGARY, B.C.

Visit of Divisional Officer—Good Harvest Festival Meetings

Brigadier and Mrs. Hay paid us a visit on Saturday, October 4th, when a time of much blessing and inspiration was spent, this being Mr. Hay's first visit to the West.

On Sunday, October 5th, Harvest Festival Services were held all day with much blessing, the Hall being nicely decorated by the Sisters. In the afternoon a special service was held at the Tabernacle. We appreciated this change, listening intently to short talks by Brother Stummel and Captain W. Butt, and singing heartily the Harvest songs.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Ontario Preferendum

The people of Ontario, as we anticipated they would have made in this an unmistakable measure that they desire the continuance of Prohibition. At the same time we are not surprised, but it is already evident that the aggregate majority of Noes on the four questions will run into six figures.

It is an especial satisfaction to us to find, as we had also anticipated, that the question has been treated as strongly as the rest of the party policies. It is one of those great public matters, such as the fighting of an epidemic, the putting out of a fire, or the defence of the nation against armed enemies, which calls for the united action of all in the community, and the victory of the party that threatens it.

The victory has been a decisive one, but there must be no cessation of either interest or effort until all the loopholes are closed and the Dominion House takes the steps which are now in the hands of the Legislature to make the law of the Province entirely effective in its own borders, by providing for the prohibition of the manufacture and importation, as well as of the use of alcoholic liquor.

The reasons why the people have voted as they did are well known to all. "Starvation Prohibition," says our contemporary, "has been tried for three years, and its results have been disastrous; even then, however, the Prohibitionists have not been able to admit the fact. The public interest in the liquor traffic is dead, and the closing of the bars has helped to enliven it." The "Moral" work has gone over the country and been spent upon the necessities and comforts of the people. Many families have experienced happiness and health which, in former days, account has been increased and the way to abundances made easier. It is true that the abdication of drinking customs has not improved the physique of the people, but the general trend of the West, Ontario, and Quebec is a great burden, and has no desire to shoulder it again.

Human Nature and Acts of Parliament

WHILE it is quite right and proper that nations and peoples, as they become enlightened, and the public conscience is roused to the evil of the principles underlying and operating through practices which have previously, through ignorance and carelessness, been adopted, and perhaps considered innocent, should mark such progress by placing on their statute books laws for their suppression, and, indeed, would be lacking a sense of moral obligation if they did not do so; and while it is equally important upon individuals who have received enlightenment to pray at proper times, and on proper occasions, the need for reform upon the attention of their neighbours and Parliament, it should also be borne in mind that it is the sinistral condition of the heart of man which is at the bottom of all the evil in the world, and that it is only one effectual method of dealing with this.

Let us by all means cut off the branches, and keep the tree from flowering and distributing its seed播散, but let us not at the expense of efforts to reach and destroy its roots. In a paper addressed particularly to Army Officers, upon "The Making of Men," the General says:

"... disorder, rebellion, corruption, underhand, treacherous—these are the chaotic elements into which man has been cast, and which he must struggle to extricate him, out of which he must be made over again. And we must not be afraid to say that there be no uncertainty here. Whatever other path may be taken, the end of man and civilization, and like human efforts, is to bring salvation's mind to the uttermost uneasiness and desolation, and to bring salvation's love, hope, or narrative for fallen man but God."

The Corps Cadet Brigade

The importance of the Corps Cadet Brigade and the future of the Salvation Army can hardly be overestimated. If anyone had lost sight of it, it will likely be lost again, unless we realize it is and what its objects are, for the fact to be called to reconciliation with all vigour.

The Corps Cadet Brigade is made up of Junior or Senior Soldiers, of fourteen years of age and upwards, who undertake a course of study and of training with a view to self-improvement and qualifying themselves for efficient service in the Salvation Army.

As development takes place, and one "departure" after another is added to the organization of the Cadets, the more frequent meeting of the master class, it is easy for those into whose hands is placed the immediate charge of affairs to become enthusiastic over the latest addition that those previously instructed and still vitally important are in danger of being neglected.

Must not Rob Wider Sphere

FOR instance, the Life-Saving Guard and Scout Movements, while filling a gap in the circle of Young People's work that was very necessary to close, and which they have done in a way no other method before achieved, should not be permitted to obliterate the Corps Cadet Movement. While the Corps Cadets are fulfilled, members of the Brigade can very usefully, both with a view to their own improvement and to helping of the girls and boys who are gathered in as Guards and Scouts, be employed in the excellent work of the Army.

Brigadier Barr, in the course of a short address, stated that the gathering represented, in a practical sense, the real interest the Commissioner bears towards the Young People. The lectures will represent a call to higher efficiency and at times will come when the Corps Cadets must rise to a higher standard numerically. There should be greater efficiency in the teaching of the lessons, and the Corps Cadets should have a clearer idea of what is wrapped up in their lives.

"A more efficient work is needed and expected from the Corps Cadets," he went on to say, "and new ideas which will come to us through these lessons will help us to do much better work."

Staff-Captain Knight, representing the Toronto Division, felt that those whose hearts had been touched by God should work in the interest of others, and the lectures would help the Corps Cadets to do this.

It was a pleasure to welcome Adjutant Mrs. McElroy, Captain Fox and Adjutant—who is a son of Commissioner and Mrs. Richards—delighted those present with two splendid contributions.

Helpful Words

Mrs. Adjutant Richards gave a helpful address. Her first words were of gratitude to God for journeying mercies. In speaking to the Corps Cadets Mrs. Richards said, "I come from rank and file of the Corps Cadets, and I am a firm believer that every young heart can be enlightened for the struggles of life. When I was sixteen years of age Salvation was as real to me as it is to-night, and the stand taken in regard to separation from the world was equally as definite then as now."

Brigadier Barr, in the course of a short address, stated that the gathering represented, in a practical

The Chief Secretary and Mrs. Potter, accompanied by Mrs. Brigadier Potter, Major's Son, and Misses Potter, conducted the First Young People's of the present season's series at Moose Jaw on Sunday, October 12th. A splendid time was experienced, and the speakers forward for Salvation or Consecration.

Lieut.-Colonel Nibbel conducted a Divisional Audit at Edmonton on Tuesday, October 1st.

Majors and Majors' Sons and Goodwin represented the Territorial Headquarters Staff, Warden Downey, of the Provincial Jail, in expressing his personal regret, stating that Warden was the only one of many public-spirited citizens by the departure of Commissioner Sowton. He always impressed me as a leader of ability, vigour and earnestness. The men at the jail will never forget Mrs. Commissioner Sowton for her lovable character last summer, itself indelibly upon their memories.

Individual Effort Tells

The Warden spoke very highly of the work of the Salvation Army at the jail.

"I really do not know what I would do without the aid of my Officers, Soldiers and friends gathered to convey them to the seashore."

Being in the afternoon the hour was not opportune for many, nevertheless about one hundred Officers, Soldiers and friends gathered to bid our Leaders a final God speed."

As Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton in turn grimed our hands and gave us their parting blessing the hearts of all were "too full for utterance," and it was with difficulty we sang, by their special request, "God will be with us."

Captain George Mundy and Lieutenant Birrell removed the Major's Hat at Command and presented it to the Warden.

Adjutant Johnston, who has recently been good work in connection with jail visitation. One man has been set out on parole through his influence.

Captain Fox has been assigned to Peace River.

Captain George Mundy and Lieutenant Birrell removed the Major's Hat at Command and presented it to the Warden.

One thing that cheers us, however, apart from the fact that God will be their stay, is that, already in their newly appointed Leaders, and we are not the slightest doubt that wholehearted welcome awaits them.

The Citadel was crowded on Thursday evening, October 2nd, for Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton's public farewell gathering. Intense interest was manifested throughout the hall, and although the hour was late when the meeting was brought to a close, practically everyone present remained until the benediction was pronounced and they were afforded an opportunity to say grace before leaving the hall.

In the afternoon of the date mentioned an Officers' Council was held, followed by a tea at the Training School. Both occasions will remain long in the memory of the Officers and Cadets present.

The Public Meeting

A public selection entitled "My Pilot is with Us" was acceptably rendered by the Training Garrison Male Singing Brigade under the direction of Ensign Cox.

Brigadier Taylor, representing his fellow Divisional Commissioners, and the Officers, referred to the personal example manifested by our Leaders in the way they had accepted their orders.

"By so doing they have thus put into practice the precepts which for the past four years they have been trying to teach us, and we return them all the thanks for it."

He also spoke of the "infant days" of the Territory and the limited office accommodation at what was then Territorial Headquarters.

"Major Jennings had the meetings at Chester on Sunday last and Masses of blessing were experienced.

Major Campbell (Commander of the Western Division) had just returned from Winnipeg to the effect that his brother had passed away.

Mrs. Major had no knowledge of any illness and the news came as a shock to all.

"We extend our sympathy to the Major."

Major and Mrs. Sowton conducted the meetings at Rivière du Loup last Sunday.

THE WAR CRY

Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton

Bid a Final Farewell to Comrades in Winnipeg—Crowded Public Meeting in the No. 1 Citadel—Officers' Council at the Training School

MANY TRIBUTES PAID TO THE DEPARTING LEADERS

TO say that widespread regret prevails throughout the Territory on account of the sudden and unexpected farewell of Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton, by no means adequately expresses the feelings of those who have been privileged to know the Commissaries and their wives, and have loved themselves, all throughout the Territory. The announcement that the General would in all probability visit Canada West early in 1920, called forth considerable hand-clapping.

General Taylor, representing his

Divisional Headquarters Staff, Warden Downey, of the Provincial Jail, in expressing his personal regret, stated that Warden was the only one of many public-spirited citizens

by the departure of Commissioner Sowton. He always impressed me as a leader of ability, vigour and earnestness. The men at the jail will never forget Mrs. Commissioner Sowton for her lovable character last summer, itself indelibly upon their memories.

Gathered at the

on the day of the departure of Commissioner Sowton, the Warden

the loss of their services to the a loss to the

NEW YORK CONGRESS

Greatest in History of Salvation Army in United States

Conducted by

COMMANDER EVA BOOTH

Over Three Hundred Seekers

One Hundred Per Cent.

Incredible Pledged

(BY WIRE)

MONDAY, OCTOBER 20th.

The greatest Congress yet held by the Salvation Army in the United States has just concluded amidst almost unparalleled enthusiasm. Marked by many exceptional scenes, the whole Congress has been used to the blessing and inspiration of a vast multitude. More than a thousand Officers from all over the Eastern Territory participated. Commander Eva Booth, divinely sustained and empowered, delivered messages that were most opportune, and the Congress pledged a one hundred per cent increase in many departments of Salvation Army Work. God searched the hearts of all, and the flood of light granted resulted in wonderful alien scores.

The Sunday's public gatherings were crowned with blessings. Commissioner Estill co-operated, and rows of penitents thronged the Mercy Seat morning and night.

General Shanks, on behalf of the War Department, and by order of the President, bestowed upon the Commander-in-Chief Distinguished Service Medal and sword, who served overseas and were given tokens of esteem for duty well done. Evidences of sustained and growing devotion to the Flag abounded, and a total of nearly three hundred persons were found definitely seeking God. The Spirit-filled host returns to set America on fire with Salvation.

William Jenkins, Colonel.

CENTRAL HOLINESS MEETINGS

COMMISSIONER RICHARDS

To Conduct First of Next Series in Toronto Temple

Memories of the blessing which have accompanied the previous Central Holiness meetings in Toronto will make it welcome news to the Salvationists and friends of that city. The meetings will be held the first of the series for the ensuing winter and spring. This will be conducted by Commissioner Richards.

Those following will, in the main, be led by Lieutenant-Colonel Hall, the Central Primate and Divisional Commander. As last year, the building to be used will be the Temple, Albert Street. Not only Salvationists, but anyone who is interested in the doctrine and practice of Spiritual holiness of heart and life cordially invites to attend. The same applies to the similar meetings which will be held weekly at Montreal and Hamilton.

Feel the Parting

"We naturally feel the parting with our children (Captain Anna and Captain John F. Scott) but we leave them in His care and we are comforted to think they are in His service."

Commissioner Sowton was warmly greeted. "My heart has been deeply touched and I want to thank you for the kind expressions re-

NEWFOUNDLAND ADVANCES

Mrs. Lieutenant-Colonel Adby interviewed—Soldiers Who Stick to Prayer Meetings—New Halls and Schools Opened

In the Dominion of Newfoundland the Army now has 91 Corps, 162 Sections and 57 Day Schools. Seeing that the population only numbers 245,000 the Army may be considered as well entrenched in the affections of the people. And still calls come from the outposts for the Army to send Officers to open up new posts.

The information we gathered from Mrs. Lieutenant-Colonel Adby, wife of the Provincial Commander, during her recent visit to Toronto.

Asked as to her outstanding impression regarding the work of the Army, Mrs. Adby replied without hesitation that the reverence of the people in the meetings and their intense earnestness and enthusiasm had profoundly moved her. "If souls are won and pray till the fight is won," she said, "often not reaching their homes till two or three o'clock in the morning. They enter into the spirit of the meetings with utter abandon and it is a joy to fight for God and His Kingdom."

"What notable advances have been made during the past year?"

The Self-Denial Effort was a splendid victory. We raised $6,100, an advance of $500 over last year's amount. This is a record for the Island. There have opened a new School at Bell Island and a new Hall at Curting. The School at Dildo is being renovated and Commandant Brown is building a new School at Burgeo. Building operations on the new Hall are also in progress.

"We had a wonderful time at the recent Congress conducted by the Commissioner. Officers and Soldiers were inspired and blessed and some seventy-five speakers came forward. Twelve new Officers were appointed and nine more were sent to the Field."

"On the whole the work is advancing and the prospects for a good winter's campaign are excellent."

BRANTFORD BAND

Visits Simcoe for Week-end Campaign—Meeting Held by Lieutenant-Colonel Hargrave—Senator McCall Presents

On October 12th-13th, the Brantford Band visited Simcoe, accompanied by Lieutenant-Colonel Hargrave. The Armouries was loaned to us for the week-end. The meetings were well attended, and the singing and playing was very much appreciated; over £100 was collected and a good sum of money, enough to pay for renovation of the Hall.

On Saturday night the Band gave a musical Festival such as the people of Simcoe have not heard for many a long day. Rev. Moir (Methodist Church) presided.

On Sunday afternoon we had another big time of music and song, when Senator McCall presided, supported by Colonel Atkinson, who spoke very highly of the Salvation Army and the work it is doing.

On Sunday night over five hundred people were present.

The Monday the Band was taken by leading townspersons to the County Home, where they gave the old people some cheering music and song. The station platform was lined with people as the Band left town. Captain Bird and Lieutenant Everard are the Officers in charge of this Corps, and under their leadership we are in for victory.

TORONTO YOUNG PEOPLE

Gather in the Temple for Council—Attendance Reaches a High Water Mark, with Eight Hundred Present—Corps Officers Take Part—Inspiring and Helpful Sessions—Hundred and Thirty-three Surrenders

COMMISSIONER RICHARDS IN CHARGE

“OFTENTIMES I have wondered where the Salvation Army is to get sufficient Officers from but after seeing this splendid, enthusiastic young people, my heart is at rest on that score.”

So said Brigadier McEwan, Chief Women's Side Officer, speaking at the Training College, speaking regarding the Toronto Young People's Day.

And, beyond doubt, she expressed the prevailing sentiment regarding this record gathering of Young People. No one could look on that splendid crowd of boys and girls, young men, young women, and young men, eager and alert, without realising that the Salvation Army has within its ranks most splendid material for the recruiting of its future leaders.

Record Attendance

A record was set for Toronto as regards the numbers attending and the seating accommodation at the hall was taxed to find room for the eight hundred or so who were present.

This is striking evidence of the growth of the Young People's work in the city and is some indication of the hold which the Army is getting in the affections and minds of the rising generation. To gather for half day's meetings eight hundred young people from seventeen Corps, six in the Training College Division, and eleven in the Toronto Division, is in itself no small achievement.

Twelve new Officers were appointed and nine more were sent to the Field.

"On the whole the work is advancing and the prospects for a good winter's campaign are excellent."

The Corps sending the largest number of representatives were Dovercourt and the Temple with about one hundred each, Chester sent 80, Lisgar Street and West Toronto, 50 each, and other Corps from 20 to 40.

Following the meeting, the fine contingent of Life-Saving Scouts of the World from Dovercourt with their Bugle Band, Scout Leader Johansen paraded them around the streets before each meeting and many comments were heard on the skill and precision with which one of whom had been a member of all Corps was two hundred.

The Life-Saving Guards of the World were also much in evidence, no less than 250 of them sitting together in the centre of the Hall, mostly in full uniform.

Field Officers Present

This year, for the first time, the Field Officers had been invited to attend the meetings at their various Corps being led by Headquarters Officers. This was an arrangement which gave general satisfaction, and towards the end of the final Session Commandant Parsons voiced the feelings of his brethren.

The Chief Secretary was by the Commissioner's side throughout and contributed greatly to the success of the final Session. Commandant Parsons voiced the feelings of his brethren.

The step that was a wise move in the right direction was abundantly evident throughout the prayer meeting, when the Corps Officers, knowing their own Young People and their peculiar difficulties as did, the most honest in regarding them to seek whatever blessing they needed and then dealing with them at the Penitent Form or in the registration room.

The Headquarters Officers equally appreciated the opportunity of conducting meetings at the Corps and thus making free of Field Officers and from reports we have received, wood times were experienced and souls were saved.

To report each of the Sessions in detail is not our aim, but we hope to give a condensed, yet comprehensive review of the whole day which may convey a good idea of it to our readers.

First we must refer to the Commissioner. From the very outset he captured the attention of the Young People and held it throughout the Sessions, with his inspiring presence and the enthusiasm of his Army. He and his wife, young, women, and young men, eager and alert, without realising that the Salvation Army has within its ranks most splendid material for the recruiting of its future leaders.

"Gladsome songs of Praise were sung. The Spirit was with us and the Word was given to us and many Lightenings came along with the Word. We noted so many young Servants to Christ."

The Brigadier, the most multitudinous day to us throughout the day, smiling that won't come off, "smile that won't come off," especially he noted so many young Servants to Christ.

The Commissioner, Lieutenant-Colonel Dwyer, both expressed themselves delighted with the inspiring attendance and predicted further advances as a result of these meetings and the Conference and gave us a brief sketch of the closing session, what would you ring bell to ring.

At the beginning of the sessions Mrs. Commissioner and the Commissioner held throughout the day with the young people, who had just come from the International Conference.

"Yes, Salvation Army is a country of infinite distance." It stretches from the International boundary on the south to the 60th parallel, a distance of 700 miles, and has an average width of 300 miles. The area of the Province is 251,700 square miles, which is twice that of the United Kingdom.

"About 630,000 people live within this area, so you see there is room for plenty more. The largest city is Regina, the capital, which has about 40,000 people."

"And how does the Salvation Army stand?"

"We are growing. When I went there a little over four years ago there were nine Corps. There are now nineteen. We have now two Corps in Regina and one in Moose Jaw. The other openings are in small towns, such as we have from 12 to thirty Soldiers at each Corps."

"How is the situation as regards properties?"

"We have aimed at securing our own properties and are doing so successfully. We have good Halls and Officers' Quarters in all the Corps. At Swift Current and Assinibina we have taken over two buildings that were formerly in use as Chinese laundries and in Estevan and Melville we have bought former Catholic churches. In all thirteen new properties have been secured."

THE WAR CRY

PROGRESS IN SASKATCHEWAN

Brigadier Coombs, the Divisional Commander, tells of New Corps Opened—Souls Secured and Souls Saved

Some interesting information regarding the Province of Saskatchewan and the progress of the Army's work there was given by the Divisional Commander, to a "War Cry" representative recently. The Brigadier was spending his furlough in the East, visiting his father, who lives at Bradford, just west of Toronto, and the meetings were coming along in a most satisfactory way.

"You have a wide geographic extent of country to cover in order to visit your Corps, have you not, Brigadier?"

"Wide Extent"

"Yes, Saskatchewan is a country of infinite distance." It stretches from the International boundary on the south to the 60th parallel, a distance of 700 miles, and has an average width of 300 miles. The area of the Province is 251,700 square miles, which is twice that of the United Kingdom.

Major Walton, Divisional Commander for Halifax, has been very busy lending a helping hand and his visits to St. John's, Newfoundland, Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, and Yarmouth, and Dartmouth, Toronto, Earlscourt, and Lindsay. At each of these places God has blessed his labours. Souls have been saved and Soldiers inspired. The Toronto Division says, "Thank you, Major, and our prayers will follow you to the Halifax Division."

Brock Avenue—This rising young Corps is making splendid progress under Ensign and Mrs. Crowe. The weekend meeting, October 11 and 12, was led by the Divisional Commander and Mrs. O'Neil. A splendid crowd gathered Saturday night on Brock Street and listened as the Colonel gave an open-air Bible talk.

Sunday morning was a great feast and spiritual uplift. In the afternoon the members visited the large Ministry Department and also addressed the Companies.

At night five new Soldiers were enrolled under the flag. Each gave a good definite testimony. Mrs. Oway's Bible talk was very powerful and convincing, and a splendid work was done. The total amount of the meeting and eight souls surrendered. Since the Divisional Commander's last visit a Band has been formed and now numbers eleven, with several other learners.

Bowmanville—Lieutenant Lang reports a splendid week-end and two Sunday services. Total amount of Harvest Festival victory of $200. The Young People are now rallying up and taking their place in the open-air.

Bowdoinport—Captain and Mrs. Bowdoinport organized a Harvest Festival meeting of $200. The Young People are now rallying up and taking their place in the open-air.

Dovercourt has welcomed Captain and Mrs. Leach. The induction meeting was led by Staff-Captain Knight. The Band marched to the Quarters and played the new Officers to the Citadel, which was well filled.

The Songsters also were up in good order. The bands representing the various departments each spoke words of welcome.

Captain and Mrs. Leach have captured the hearts of the Dovercourt comrades and have faith for a great winter of revival.

Grace Hospital Tag Day

Winnipeg Citizens Give Four Thousand Dollars in Aid of a Worthy Institution—H.R.H. the Prince of Wales Buys a Tag and Expresses Sympathy with Army—Display in Store Window a Moving Appeal

"SUPPORT Grace Hospital Tag Day." Thus ran the brilliantly illuminated sign on the front of the Winnipeg City Hall, ordered there by the Mayor. The chief point about it was that the City Hall gave its warm endorsement in support of an appeal on behalf of one of Winnipeg's highest and most efficient institutions. Grace Hospital, by its splendid work during the assistance of the Salvation Army in our hostel work," said an Officer of the Soldiers' Wives League to a representative of the Ottawa Citizen in reviewing what had been accomplished for the returning soldiers and their dependents in the way of providing shelter and food for these families during their temporary stay here, or until they could get lodgings.

Since May the Soldier's Wives League have utilized their beds at 211 Wellington street for this purpose, giving sleeping quarters that are furnished with beds, several families being accommodated at one time. As many as six families have secured quarters here the same night.

Always the Salvation Army offers the services of its messengers to the returning soldiers and their wives and children to the hospital, and they were provided with food by the Patriotic Fund. Captain Ridout, of the Salvation Army, gave particularly helpful assistance in this work, and the Soldier's Wives League expressed thanks to her for her noble work.

This work will be kept up for a while longer, when it is expected that there will be no need for the hospital for this purpose.

Fifty Seekers During Last Five Weeks—Comrades Say Farewell

On a recent Sunday, thirty souls from Grace Hospital have given magnificent service in the Army in dire need of the rest and care they can get only in a maternity hospital. It has been a welcome haven in which girls who have been unfortunate, have found their shield from shame. Its reputation is more than sufficient to make the organization of Winnipeg see fit to another of the Salvation Army's untiring efforts to do good. But it requires to be sustained with financial aid. Its budget for the year calls for the donation of $5,000 more than the $19,000 provided by the Province. Winona, Mrs. and Miss O'Neil, who run the hospital on that income is impossible. The number of patients admitted into its maternity section alone last year was 828. There were 627 births, and only 36 infants died.

"For all citizens will put their hands deep into their pockets, and proudly wear the tag of the Salvation Army."

Bandsister and Mrs. Morrison from Sydney, Maine led special meetings recently and rendered excellent service with their music and singing.

Adjutant and Mrs. White are still leading us in and the Corps is in a most healthy condition.

GLACE BAY

This Corps is progressing under the leadership of Captain and Mrs. Leach.

Our Harvest Festival effort is over and we have gone over our target. On Harvest Festival Sunday the Hall was decorated and the tables and chairs were set for the following night or hall play.

The Juniors also made fruit baskets and we realized a good sum. Altogether the Harvest Festival Effort proved a great success. Senior and Juniors holding the collection very well. R. P. Corp Correspondent.

HELP OF SALVATIONISTS

Is Deeply Appreciated by the Soldiers' Wives League in Ottawa—Officers Have Met Their And Seen to Welfare of Many Women and Children

"We cannot speak too highly of the assistance of the Salvation Army in our hostel work," said an Officer of the Soldiers' Wives League to a representative of the Ottawa Citizen in reviewing what had been accomplished for the returning soldiers and their dependents in the way of providing shelter and food for these families during their temporary stay here, or until they could get lodgings.

CLOCK MADE OF FLOWERS

A growing plants and flowers, made by a botanist, is being exhibited outside Paris.

The dial is simply a large circular flower-bed with twelve divisions, one for each hour of daylight. In each division a certain plant is grown, and so precisely has the selection of suitable plants been made that it is possible to tell the time of day by the opening of any one flower. The plants are arranged in the following order:

(1) Rose, (2) Heliotrope, (3) Water Lily, (4) Hyacinth, (5) Convolvulus, (6) Geranium, (7) Mignonette, (8) Carnation, (9) Cactus, (10) Lilies, (11) Passion Flower, (12) Violet.

The originator claims that a botanist can tell the time by this means to within a few minutes.

BLIND PEOPLE AT NIAGARA

The strangest talisman ever paid to the blind of Niagara was the visit of more than one hundred blind men and women, who saw not a single drop of the white masses that toppled over the precipice, but only sensed its wonders by that uncanny perception of touch. It cost a last to those who make their life through unclouding darkness.

Miss Rosetta M. Stone, of Detroit, conducted the party, whom she enlivened at her vivid description of the scene. An artist by training, she drew pictures on the backs of the blind folk's hands almost as clear as those she produced with her lips.

BIG BRIDGE SCHEME

STEPS for the realization of one of the greatest projects ever contemplated in California—the Golden Gate Bridge—were taken at a mass meeting of citizens in San Rafael, early in August.

It was shown that the bridge could be constructed directly over the Golden Gate from Fort Baker to Fort Mason. The gate has a total width at that point of 5,500 feet, and soundings show a rock formation in the center which would support the central span.

A San Francisco bank has offered to finance the project with a loan of $10,000,000, the estimated cost.

The only condition is that the Government grant the backers a franchise and regulate the toll charges.

CAPTURED A LEOPARD

THE young leopard captured by the crew of H. M. S. Hyacinth off the African coast, has arrived at the Zoological Gardens, London, being escorted to its new home by two officers. The Hyacinth is to give the leopard a pet name, and a nice comfortable cage all to itself.

Just before the ship reached Sierra Leone the crew went up "Leopard overboard!"

The ship was infested with sharks.

The ship was stopped, a boat lowered, and the leopard was picked up while doing her best to swim towards the ship.

FOOD OR BEER?

The statement is made that Ontario's annual drink bill before the war was thirty-five million dollars ($35,000,000) says Professor Zavitz of Guelph, in a letter to the "War Crier." This was greater than the value of all the grain produced in the wheat, rice, buckwheat, beans and potatoes produced in Ontario at that time. It was also greater by about five million dollars than the combined animal values of the sheep, cattle, hogs and poultry which were sold or slaughtered for food purposes.

In the year just previous to the war the consumption of malt liquor in Canada reached its highest point, namely $60,000,000, or an average per capita consumption of 7.2 gallons of beer per head of the entire population. Of all the alcoholic liquors used in Canada at that time about six-sevenths was beer and the remaining one-seventh was wine and spirituous liquors.

Beer can be made from such food-stuffs as barley, wheat, rye, corn and potatoes by converting the starch into alcohol. Barley was the grain commonly used for beer production in Ontario. This grain, however, was not a suitable feed for farm stock. According to investigations made in the Field Husbandry Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, barley produced more digestible constituents per acre than any of the other small grains grown in Ontario. The cereals are needed as human food or as stock feed, and every available surplus should be conserved for export overseas where some of the people are still being rationed.

RECLAMATION IN HOLLAND

THE work of reclaiming the Zuider Zee which will soon be under way will change the map of Europe. The Zuider Zee, it is estimated, will cover 200,000,000 square meters and make the land of Holland some 20,000,000 acres larger, or, in western terms, the Nation will acquire 480,000 acres of land, or an area equivalent to the state of Connecticut.

As an indication how successfully the noise of the engine has been silenced the works manager, who had his typist with him, dictated several letters, which she typed while the machine was in the air, on a typewriter fixed to the little folding table in the cabin.

NITRATE PRODUCTION

THE production of Chile nitrate has been increasing in recent months. The last monthly production was reported at 25,000,225 quintals. The total output in this industry is still increasing rapidly, but it is expected that at least two years will be required to bring the exports of this product up to pre-war standards. In the meantime there is an increased demand for shipment to North America, and enquiries have been sent to Antofagasta from both Canada and American buyers.

HORSES AND MULES

STATISTICS issued by the War Industries Board show that the imports of horses and mules for use during the war, from the end of 1914 to the present time, were 21,500,000 still in the United States. In addition to this there were 5,000,000 mules in that country last year. Horses and mules together make up one-fourth as many as the human population.

BIG SAILING SHIP

THE largest sailing ship in the Indian Empire was launched at Rangoon the other day, her gross tonnage being 1,000 tons. She was built by Burmese labor of first-class teak wood.

In the Valley of Decision

The Story of a Wanderer

"See that ye refuse not Him that Speaketh."

By ADJUTANT GEORGE CARTER, Canada West
Territorial Headquarters

SUMMARY OF PREVIOUS CHAPTER

Mr. and Mrs. McArtley, who lived in a Nova Scotia town, decided to go to British Columbia to seek their fortune. They took their children with them. Their little son Robert was very young. They eventually journeyed West and were met by Mr. Bright, who had been sent by the Army to conduct them to his home. They bought a house there and Robert's health suffered due to the climate. The Army had to take him back to England. Illness and privations affected Mrs. McArtley's health that year. Here, a few years later, Bob was attracted by the beauty of the West and many were converted.

CHAPTER IX

As the months went by Bob's parents and his young brothers and sisters got used to his religious habits and although they never said so, Mr. and Mrs. McArtley were proud of their eldest son for having the courage of his convictions. About two years almost to a day after his conversion, Bob came home one night from one of the little prayer meetings held in the cabin previously referred to. There had been no public meeting at the Army that night, so a number of the boys had met at the cabin, and, after a very profitable spiritual time together, had departed to their respective homes.

MOUNTAIN FOOTPATH

Bob took the narrowest way, which was lonely and somewhat precipitous footpath down the mountain side. It was a beautiful starlit night, in fact, it seemed to Bob that he had never observed so many stars before. The darkness of the forest about and beneath him seemed to intensify the brightness of the stars above. His face always kept his face upward. Presently he became conscious that he was repeating the words of the Psalmist David: "When I consider Thy heavens, the work of Thy fingers, the moon and the stars which Thou hast ordained; what is man, that Thou art mindful of him, and the son of man, that Thou visitest him?"

No, God was very mindful of man! He had been very mindful of him. Robert McArtley, but it had not dawned upon him until two years previous. God had indeed visited him. What a remarkable ordeal, when a world of experience, God had by His Spirit written upon him, he felt! At Bob wanted to shout aloud. The great truth broke upon him and smote forcefully than on any previous occasion.

TWINKLING LIGHTS

We will suppose it to be evening walking and stops were still. Some distance below could be seen the twinkling lights of the town and harbour front. The hour was late, and the silence-unbroken here for the occasional distant bark of a dog and the rustle of some bird or animal in the thickets near by.

Bob hurried home and on arrival was surprised at the lateness of the hour. His parents had retired long since, but his mother, who had faithfully followed his return, said, "What canst thou be doing?" This query caused Bob to present himself to her as he stood looking out into the night across the darkened countryside.

The lights of the town flickered out one by one, here and there, extinguished as by an invisible hand. The more Bob thought of the question that had come to him on his way home, the more confused his mind became.

He lay awake a long time, then sat within himself he was quite prepared to do the will of God concerning him whatever that might be. This decision brought relief to his troubled mind and he fell asleep.

For some weeks Bob made the matter one of special prayer, then spoke the Officer regarding it. She wisely advised him to submit the matter before God and the way, without doubt, would be made plain to him.

In the meantime instruction regarding the Doctrine of the Salvation Army, its early history, also its rules and regulations were imparted to him whenever the opportunity presented itself.

At length Bob became convinced of His Call to the Work and duly made application for Officership.

OPPOSED THE IDEA

His parents opposed the idea from the moment he advised them of his intention to become an Officer. Just as he was about to give up all hope of being allowed to fulfil his dream, he was relying on his neighbour to complete some of his logging contracts.

When they realized, however, that their son had been called of God, and that (Robert) was fully persuaded that this course was the right, and that the only one for him to take, they became reconciled to his offering himself.

At length word came from Headquarters that he had been accepted, and was expected to enter the Training College in the immediate future.

He had now become occupied with the people of the town in which he lived. The majority of them were at that moment peacefully sleeping. Then the thought came to him, how many of them realized that God was "indulgent" of them? how many of them had received a visitation of His Spirit? He silence became intense. What could that purpose be?" he asked himself again and again. Then the words given in expression to Christ when being moved by compassion on seeing the multitude came to his mind: "The harvest truly is plenteous, but the labourers are few. Pray ye therefore the Lord of the harvest, that He will send forth laborers into His harvest."

"Friends at the wharf to see him 'God-speed'."

Yes, thought Bob, what is needed, and needed badly, is laborers. The Captain was impressing this on the congregation on the previous Sunday. She had said there was a great need of consecrated men and women in the Army. Now who was a man who had been moulded upon God to give themselves to a life of service in His ranks for the Salvation of mankind?

"Then why not you?" The question had never come to him in just the same way before. He had vaguely realized in the past that there was a place for others in God's vineyard, but he had never had any personal responsibility in the matter. "Then why not you?"

He considered further it was easily seen why he should not. He had insufficient education. He was no speaker, in fact, there was absolutely nothing about him to command God's attention. He had no money, and had great need of him to help with his work, and he was relying on his neighbour to complete some of his logging contracts.

When they realized, however, that their son had been called of God, and that (Robert) was fully persuaded that this course was the right, and that the only one for him to take, they became reconciled to his offering himself.

At length word came from Headquarters that he had been accepted, and was expected to enter the Training College in the immediate future. Somehow or other Bob had hardly expected that his application would be successful, and when it came, it was received by him with mixed feelings. He was glad to have his desire granted, but he was uncertain as to whether he would measure up to what was required of him. God's promise to Joshua, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee," continually rang in his ears, however, and was the means of much comfort, blessing, and courage to him.

The two weeks previous to his leaving home were taken up to a large extent in preparing for his departure and wishing his friends and enemies good-bye. Bob was surprised to find how many people, even those more or less critical of the Army, wished him "good luck" on his journey. He had a great deal of difficulty in getting a place to go to his religious profession, said to him, "Be sure you make your colour to the best credit to Nanaimo. Not only say you are a Salvationist but let us watch your name." All of us will do."

BOB FAREWELLS

The eventful day arrived at last. Bob never realized what a great day his loved ones and friends had put the town, his in law, his wife, with him on the deck of the steamer which was to convey him to Vancouver.

It was a beautiful morning, and a large crowd of Salvationists and other friends were down at the wharf to wish "God-speed" on his long journey.

Mr. and Mrs. McArtley were, of course, among the number, also his little McArtley, who wanted his big brother to take them with him. Said proudly, "I'll kiss him good-bye and then we'll go to the party up to the city." Soon the ship of freight and baggage was put ashore and the mornings were east off and the vessel slowly steamed toward the open sea.

Mrs. McArtley hung up bravely until the steamer was lost to view, and she did not burst into tears until the evening. Her mother, who had been with her, said, "Don't be afraid, we'll get along all right and because it did not seem the same to them. The children seemed to feel this also, and sat around and quietly whispered together while their mother prepared the midday meal.

CONVERSING TOGETHER

That night, after the little ones had been put to bed, Mr. and Mrs. McArtley sat around the fire until a late hour conversing together regarding their early days away in New Brunswick, and it was, in fact, natural for them to turn to their eldest boy who had had a morning left before he had to leave.

The Commissioner, in motherly terms spoke of how it was her wish to have the Corps Cadets make themselves known to her, and at all times she would be willing to do her best for them.

The Commissioner, who is ever at home when addressing Young People, gave a very convincing and helpful address. He is a fine example of what will at one's self can accomplish in the way of progress and the advice he had to offer in this connection was excellent.

Our leader made use of many examples and pointed sayings when dealing with the shortcomings which beset young people. Young People and so Corps Cadets who are not privileged to attend these meetings, can profit by the lessons he is giving in the current number of "The Young Soldier."

Another interesting part of the Commissioner's address was his apt illustrations. He drew from his storehouse items of usefulness—old men, pictures, stories, sketches of the Corps Cadets were given, facts of history, biography, adventure and Biblical truth, as well as profit by the lessons they taught.

He tested their power of observation, advantage and convinced them that the world's great field of usefulness lies in the bettering of themselves if they but give heed to their hearts, and make the most of their opportunities.

As a final shot the Commissioner urged the Corps Cadets to be recruiters for their respective brigades and do their best to boast this valuable course of training for young people.

SWANSEA

Good Crowds Attend Meetings—Progress is Being Made

A month ago Swansea was formally opened and last week-end the first Harvey Festival meetings were held. Sunday night meetings were held with the children and at 9 o'clock the Corps Cadets from West Toronto, with Sister Potter led on. One hundred and twelve persons were present, and $4.10 was given in the collection plate.

Brigadier Green was called into the office of the Adjutant. In motherly terms she spoke of how it was her wish to have the Corps Cadets make themselves known to her, and at all times she would be willing to do her best for them.

Another interesting part of the Commissioner's address was his apt illustrations. He drew from his storehouse items of usefulness—old men, pictures, stories, sketches of the Corps Cadets were given, facts of history, biography, adventure and Biblical truth, as well as profit by the lessons they taught.

He tested their power of observation, advantage and convinced them that the world's great field of usefulness lies in the bettering of themselves if they but give heed to their hearts, and make the most of their opportunities.

As a final shot the Commissioner urged the Corps Cadets to be recruiters for their respective brigades and do their best to boast this valuable course of training for young people.

Annual Picnic Well Attended—Comrade Welcomed from Overseas

On October and we had our yearly picnic at Bridgeport. It was a bit late in the season, owing to some of our people not being back from the fishing as the yearly custom is. They duly arrived, however, and a large crowd attended the picnic. We had a good time.

We also had the joy of welcoming back into our meetings on Sunday Brother Everett Jones, who has been serving overseas for seventeen months. He had a testimony to give to God's grace and goodness to him during his absence from the Corps. S.L.—Captain.

At closing our week-end meetings on Sunday, we had the joy of welcoming back into our meetings on Sunday Brother Everett Jones, who has been serving overseas for seventeen months. He had a testimony to give to God's grace and goodness to him during his absence from the Corps. S.L.—Captain.

OFFICERS' COUNCIL AND TEA

A most profitable session of Officers' Councils was held at the Scandinavian Citadel in the afternoon at which the Chief Secretary tried, yet completely failed, to keep the members of the Armed Forces off the Councils.

We had the joy of seeing our friends from the Bay and the Adjutant and two Bandsmen come forward for consecration.

On Monday night, with Captain Tom Mundy, we had a sale of the different things given by the farmers around. The proceeds amounted to $124.30.

WINNIPEG III.

Two dear comrades sought a deeper work of grace. Sister Mrs. Taylor, whose God has raised up from a sick bed, came and praised Him, "in the congregation of the people." We shall ask the readers for many more such readers.

Brigadier Phillips visited us on Friday, October 10, with a Brigade of Cadets and gave us the first of a series of three Holiness meetings. He spoke on "Holiness—What is it?" T.O'Hara, Corps Correspondent.

OTTAWA II.

"We said good-bye to Captain and Mrs. Woodley on Sunday, October 13th. They have been only with us in our midst eight months, but we have loved them very much. Their efforts have been varied and many during their stay to help in our work here. We have had the joy of seeing several converted."

On Wednesday, October 16th, we had a meeting making some progress and hope soon to be able to report great things from this little place. For the week-end the collections amounted to $18—A. F.

Sunday night, October 12, was the commencement of a Campaign conducted by Adjutant and Mrs. Kendall. The whole week-end was one that long will be remembered. The open-airs were well attended and on Sunday night our Hall was almost full.

We had Captain Steele and Adjutant Trickey with us as visitors. The Captain conducted the Sunday night open-air with a good Training College swing to it. We are looking forward to real blessed times.—R.

Captain Jones and Lieutenant Calder have farewelled and Captain and Mrs. Whitfield have been welcomed. During the week-end meetings one soul sought Salvation.

garding our work. God certainly has been good to us and we give Him all the glory for what we have been enabled to achieve since taking the command of the Territory.

He dwelt at some length on the "beginnings" and subsequent "onward and upward march" of the work in Canada West and paid tribute to the faithful and able service of Captain G. C. Sowton, whom he had always received from Mrs. Commissioner Sowton.

In closing he warned Officers and Soldiers alike to ever be on the "Watch tower" and to continually serve the Lord.

Officers' Council and Tea

WINNIPEG III.

On Sunday, October 12th, Ensign Royce opened and last week-end the meetings which were full of interest.

Brigadier Phillips visited us on Friday, October 10, with a Brigade of Cadets and gave us the first of a series of three Holiness meetings. He spoke on "Holiness—What is it?" T.O'Hara, Corps Correspondent.

"I love the West for what it is and for what it will become under the blessing of God. I want you to beware of popularity and worldliness."

He then went on to draw some very valuable lessons from the verse of Scripture from the Gospel of St. Matthew, "Well done thou good and faithful servant."

Before bringing his remarks to a close he addressed the bravest and most courageous of all for his successor, and touched briefly upon Sweden, his new command.

The Officers' tea was held at the Training Garrison and was a notable success. Miss Neilson, who was "family spirit" more apparent and although there was a feeling of sadness in the hearts of all on account of the farewell of our Leaders, yet there was a sense in which it seemed to draw the Officers closer together.

After tea the Chief Secretary called on a number for "informal speeches." Among those who spoke were Cadets Eddie and Aldridge, Brigadier Phillips, Mr. Peter, and Mr. George. Mr. Peter and Mr. George were the bravest and most courageous of all for his successor. Mrs. Brigadier Potter in the course of her remarks, thoughtfully referred to the untiring labours of Miss Neilson, who for many years has commanded our Leaders. Her self-sacrifice and devotion to her post were remarkable. Mrs. Brigadier Potter gave herself unreservedly up to the public side of her work and to her the able support she has given to the Commission.

A final word from each of our Leaders and the benediction was pronounced.—H. G. C.

WE ARE Looking For You A Glad Welcome Home!

SONGS OF SALVATION

WILL YOU GO?

Tunes—We're Bound for the Land, 201; The Ash Grove, 200; Song Book, 83.

We're bound for the land
Of the pure and the holy,
The home of the happy,
The kingdom of love;
Ye wanderers from God
In the broad road of folly,
Oh, say, will you go
To the Eden above?

Will you go? Oh, say, will you go
To the Eden above?

In that blessed land
Neither sighing nor anguish
Can breathe in the fields
Where the glorified rove;
Ye heart-burdened ones,
Who in misery languish,
Oh, say, will you go
To the Eden above?

NOTHING BUT THE BLOOD
Tune—Nothing but the Blood of Jesus, B. J., 65; Song Book, 176.
What can wash away my sin?
Nothing but the Blood of Jesus,
What can keep me always clean?
Nothing but the Blood of Jesus.

Chorus
Here will I seek the flow,
That washes white as snow!

No other found I know,
—Nothing but the Blood of Jesus!

What can sweep all doubts away?
Help me live by faith each day?

What can make me brave and strong?
Keep my conscience void of wrong?

CALLING FOR YOU

Tune—For you I am praying, 227;
Song Book, 60.

We have a message,
A message from Jesus,
And time is now hastening,
Its moments are few;
He's seeking poor sinners,
Make haste to receive Him,
The Master is come
And He calleth for you.

Chorus
For you He is calling,
Yes, Jesus is calling,
Is calling for you.

We have a message,
A message from Jesus,
A message of hope
To the poor weary heart;
The love of my Saviour,
There's nothing so precious,
The friendship of Jesus
Will never depart.
